Oh So Precious, The Precious Club

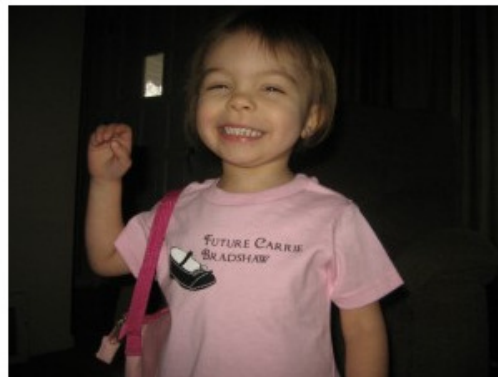

By Jenn

When having a baby there is one thing you can count on having a lot of, cloths. Dozens of T shirts and onsies are a real must have. The good news is that they don't all have to be the same old boring pink, blue and yellow. The Precious Club is a great place to add some character to any toddler or babies wardrobe. They offer an irresistible line for baby fashionistas and pop culture lovers alike. Making their website a great place to find that special gift. The one that stands out at baby showers or birthday parties.

You can read more about The Precious Club here.

I was given the opportunity to review an item from The Precious Club's adorable web shop. It didn't take me long to find a T shirt to fit our granddaughter personality. I knew it the second I saw it.

See for yourself;

Like most little girlie girls, our granddaughter, Becca loves cloths and shoes. She loves to play dress up. Often slinging a purse over her shoulder and waving goodbye while walking all the way in to our kitchen. Some times I think she was born already loving fashion. Shoes are always a big deal to her and if you leave yours out any where in house, they are fare game.

This is the perfect T shirt for our Becca! Her mother and myself being huge Sex & The City fans we all just love it.

When I opened the package I was impressed at the high quality and softness of the shirt. Not like others I have purchased online in the past. Also, the color and print looks just as perfect and adorable as it does online.

If you have a little one at home or are in need of just the right gift, The Precious Club is definitely a place you want to shop. Don't miss out on their buy 3 items, get FREE shipping special. I know I wont.
